Dear IB students and parents,

With this school year well on its way, it is time for the annual parents' consultation evening. The event takes place

Monday February 8, 2020, from 17.00 to 21.00.

It is possible to request consultations with up to six subject teachers including the IB coordinator. The consultations will be virtual through the use of the students' Teams profiles. We expect that students also participate in the consultation.

Deadline for registration in Lectio for the parents' consultation evening is Monday 1 at 23.59. Note that it is only possible to sign up via Lectio and only before the deadline. Schedule for the evening's consultations will be available in Lectio Thursday February 4 at 15.00.

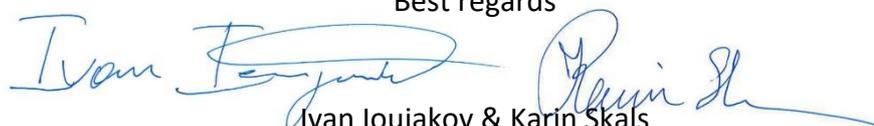

Should you have to cancel your participation once given times for consultations, you must contact member of senior management Ronni Sejrsen Hansen directly on rs@hasseris-gym.dk or by phone on 96 32 71 10.

The current lockdown of the school poses a number of challenges for staff and students. Right now both students and teachers are doing their best to make the most out of a difficult situation. The schedule has been reduced a little as we acknowledge that online learning for a full day is very challenging. Fortunately, IB1 students do not have any written exams by the end of IB1 which will get on their final IB Diploma after IB2, so we have some time to catch up when the world hopefully soon will return to more normal teaching possibilities. Likewise, we can arrange the mock exams by the end of IB1 to match the contents which they have actually covered under the given circumstances.

In regards to the everyday virtual teaching, challenges are found in many different areas, but in particular poor internet connections and students sitting in their beds, not really being ready for receiving teaching, are mentioned as particularly problematic. The school communicates with the students through Lectio, and I cannot stress enough the importance of students actually checking their messages here. We also meet with the students in Teams for IB Assemblies, and it is extremely important that the students attend these assemblies as important information regarding for instance the lockdown will be given here.

Should you experience that your child is having difficulties, never hesitate to contact us. You can either call the school or write to Karin on ib@hasseris-gym.dk

Best regards
